THE NOBLEST AMBITION.

Many a man holds firm persuasion,
Cherished deep in heart and brain,
That for him some great occasion
Shall produce colossal gain.

Day by day he idle dallies
Where the mountains kiss the skies,
Strolling through Life's greenest valleys
Without striving to arise.

Till, while loungitg, overtaken
By the Messenger of Fate,
By ambitious hopes forsaken,
Mourns he o'er his luckless state.

Then of all ascent despairing,
With less spirit than a slave,
He contented is with sharing
With the low and humblest grave.

Ah! you unimpulsive natures,
Poor, indeed, must be your chance;
Nature stints your moral statures,
Fortune, your inheritance.

By long looking at the planets,
Heav'n no more is made your home
Than can flocks of gulls or garnets
Gaze on swans, and swans become.

Always onward, upward, ventures
He whose foot has never swerved,
Till God cancels the indentures
Of the apprenticeship he served.

Why should we still pick up pebbles,
Sauntering, idly on the shore,
When the shortest voyage trebles
What small gain we owned before?

Though contentment is a blessing,
Hearts should with their hearts expand,
And all mean desires suppressing,
Throb but for the great and grand.

Gloriously do kings bedizen
Heroes for successful wars,
Till the soldier's scant horizon
Seems a galaxy of stars.

But a much more stern campaigning
He, for conscience-sake, endures,
Who the victory has been gaining
That the grandest prize secures.

Climb, who would man's claim inherit,—
Soar above the human clod;
He who highest brings his merit,
Nearest brings his soul to God.

HINTS ON MARRIAGE PROPOSALS,

WITH ANECDOTES TO MATCH.

BY AN EXPERIENCED CHAPERON.

Most women allow that in the course of their lives they have gone through at least once the ordeal of a "proposal," but then they feel bound in honor not to disclose circumstances and particulars. Men naturally enough utterly refuse to detail their experiences on this subject. Their Edith or Georgina sit at the head of their table, and the mystical words used to induce her to accept that happy position, whether inspired by the feelings of the moment, or guided by the light of numerous previous failures, we are never allowed to know: I, therefore, as an elderly matron, hope for some gratitude from the rising generation, if I offer a few suggestions and write down such information on this mysterious subject as I have stored up in the course of a long life.

In the first place, then:—Avoid too much haste in matrimonial matters. A clever writer in the Saturday Review recommends no man to marry till he has seen his beloved with a cold in her head. If his affection will stand this test, nothing, we think, can chill it; but this writer, I gather from internal evidence in his own article, is young and a bachelor, and has evidently never made a sea voyage. However, his theory is good so far as it goes, and might, if generally acted upon, prevent some of the contretemps arising from hasty offers of marriage. One such occurs to me at this moment. A proposal was written and sent by the post, in the days when letters travelled quietly at the rate of ten miles an hour on mail coach. The anxious lover for the first week breathlessly expected the reply, but it did not come. The next week he pined, and was sleepless; still no answer. The third week he became indignant. "A civil acknowledgment was his due. She was heartless and a flirt." The next week he despised her, and congratulated himself on his escape; and when at the end of it, he received his own letter back from the dead letter office, because he had in his agitation, forgotten to direct it, he had so completely outlived his love, that he never proposed to that lady at all.

In the second place:—Always deal with principles. If a girl is too young to know her own mind, you had better wait till she is older; and if she is too undecided to judge of her own feelings, why not choose one a little wiser? I know a fine disposition which was soured, and the course of two lives materially darkened, by a churlish old father, who never told his daughter of the declaration of attachment he had received for her, because he considered the income offered, to be insufficient. She thought her feelings had been trifled with, and the man a heartless flirt. Many years afterward she found out, by accident, how much she had misjudged him; but it was then too late.

Let me recommend young girls to shun the man who is, even when making love, wrapped up in himself and his own pursuits, instead of being able to throw his mind into their occupations, or to sympathize with their feelings.—Such a man is narrow-minded or narrow-hearted. I once saw a middle-aged invalid making love to a young girl. After making great efforts to secure an opportunity of meeting her, he drew his chair closely to hers, looked into her face, sighed heavily, drew his chair still closer, and, while she looked at him in astonishment, and I, in the distance, strained my ears to hear what under remark followed all this preparation, I heard him whisper, with great emphasis, "Who is your doctor?" I need hardly say that the proposal failed which followed this well judged commencement. A more pardonable case of man's absorption in his own pursuits was that of a very shy lover, whose one idea was horses. He never found courage to propose till he had persuaded the lady to go into the stable and look at his favorite horse. There he spoke and there she answered yes.—But this was natural and pardonable; a shy man may need his vantage ground, and, feeling his own inferiority in the drawing-room, may yet be aware of his superior knowledge and superior power in the stable, where his horse is his throne, and he himself a king.

Thirdly.—Never express strong determinations on the subject of marriage unless you mean to break them. I have seldom heard an old bachelor declare that he had quite decided not to marry, without feeling sure that the subject was engrossing a good deal of his thoughts, and soon afterwards seeing his marriage announced in the papers. If a man assures you he could never marry a widow, or a fast young lady, or a girl who is fat, he is sure to do it; and when then the young girls who honor me with their confidence assure me that they never could marry a man who is short, or who can't ride across the country, or who wears a beard, or who has only five hundred pounds sterling a year, or a country squire who rides without straps, or forgets to wear gloves, I consider that their doom is sealed, and that their husbands will be the opposite of their youthful ideal in these exact particulars. But people fall generally du cote ou l' on penche, and the penchant of this generation is certainly not to idealize too much. Warning, therefore, on this head is, perhaps, unnecessary. Rather, I remind them that imagination is, as Schlegel tells us, a garden of Eden within us, which man ought to dress and keep within bounds, not ruthlessly fell.

I plead, therefore, that a little romance be still left around the proposal, even in this money making and money-seeking age. Let the words be spoken at a time and in a place which imagination may love to dwell upon, and beware of the example of Sir O. P——, a well known physician. He is said to have rolled the note in which he asked for the Duchess of ——'s hand, round a phial of medicine. She accepted the bitter draught, but refused the man. I have also heard that a beautiful and accomplished lady, who had become an enthusiast in farming, with the view of benefiting her tenants and dependents, was "proposed to" in a new pig sty, by an eminent agriculturist, while they were discussing the various arrangements and improvements which might be made in the building. Here an engrossing pursuit in common had assisted the denouement; but such similarity of tastes may be but temporary, and is a frail foundation for lasting union.

A north country gentleman, a master of hounds, and a man of much character and originality, but shy and peculiar in society, was, by great similarity of taste, thrown much in the way of a lady who rode well. My elderly cheeks tingle with a blush while I write, that, the gentleman, not improving the opportunities given him of declaring his sentiments, when riding home with the lady, after hunting, she took a step which, as I am presenting the different aspects and circumstance of proposals, I feel bound, however unwillingly, to relate:—"Why should we not marry, Sir John?" she said.—"Ah!" said Sir John, "I have often thought of it." and married they were!

There are fatalities which seem to attend upon some lovers—strange events, unexpected meetings, which sometimes promote, sometimes prevent proposals. A marriage took place, not many years ago, in the great world, where the two lovers (long attached but separated by the desire of their parents) met under an archway while each taking refuge in London from a sudden shower of rain. Neither of them had the least idea of the neighborhood of the other, when the sudden meeting occurred which decided the course of their future lives. In another case the engagement was broken off on account of limited means, and the gentleman went abroad. Returning after some years' absence, he arrived late on the railway platform, and rushed into the first carriage he reached, just as the train was in motion. In it he found (with her mother) the lady he had been so long vainly endeavoring to forget, and the meeting ended in one of the happiest of marriages.

In matrimony, as in other affairs, it is all important to put the critical question in the way best adapted to the character and disposition of the person concerned. A gentleman who had several sisters—agreeable, sensible, and, some of them, fine looking women—was one day asked how it happened that they all reached middle age unmarried. "I will explain," he replied: "Proposals without attentions, and attentions without proposals; and this is the clue to my sisters' single life." To take an opposite example. A friend of mine with a warm heart and quick impulses, is much in the habit of decidedly negativing any proposition when first made to her, merely on account of its novelty. One day, while referring to her happy marriage, I inquired how it happened, with her dislike to new suggestions, that she did not say No, when her husband proposed to her. "Ah!" she said, "I did, but he knew my habit, and put the question in such a way, that saying no meant yes."

Lastly.—Always secure your retreat in love as in war. This is a precaution never to be neglected. Mr. A——, brother to the late Lord Z——, whose proud and haughty temper was proverbial, proposed to a lady in Portman Square Gardens. After being refused, the rejected lover turned away from her in great indignation, but, finding the gate of the garden locked, was obliged to return to the lady and petition for the key. Another case, still more trying, was that of a gentleman travelling in the north of America, who, after being hospitably received in the house of an officer high in command there, proposed to his host's daughter the evening before his intended departure, and was refused. A deep fall of snow came on in the night; the roads became impassable; and the poor man, to his unspeakable mortification, was detained for a week in the house with the lady who had rejected him.

Such are some of the incidents relating to proposals which occur to me this moment.—Stranger and more varied cases will probably rise up to the memory of most of my readers, surrounded, in some instances, by sad and softening recollections; embittered, in others, by long and unavailing regrets.

Pause, then, and prosper, my young readers. Bear with you on your pathway that elderly chaperon's best wishes for your happy entrance into this land of promise. Remember the Italian proverb:—

"E mezzo armato
Che di buon' donna'e amato," and believe that a marriage based on mutual esteem, built up by lasting affection, and crowned with heaven's blessing, is the fair remnant left us on earth of the institutions of Paradise.—Cornhill Magazine.

WHAT I BEGIN TO BELIEVE.

"Bubbles," of the California Golden Era, furnishes that paper, under the head of "Notes and Cogitations," with the following:

I begin to believe now-a-days, that money makes the man, and dress the gentleman.

I begin to believe that the purse is more potent than the sword and pen together.

I begin to believe that those who sin the most during the week are the most devout on Sundays.

I begin to believe that honesty is the best policy to speculate with until you gain everybody's confidence; then line your pockets.

I begin to believe in humbugging the people out of their dollars. It is neither stealing nor begging; and those who are humbugged have themselves to blame.

I begin to believe that man was not made to enjoy life, but keep himself miserable in the pursuit and the possession of riches.

I begin to believe that the surest remedy for hard times and a tight money market is an extravagant expenditure on the parts of individuals, to keep the money moving.

I begin to believe that none but knaves are qualified to hold office under the government, with the exception of a few natural born fools and lunatics.

I begin to believe that piano-fortes are more necessary in a family than meat and potatoes.

I begin to believe that a boy who does not swear, smoke and chew tobacco, may be a very good boy but is naturally stupid.

I begin to believe that he has most merit who makes the most noise in his own behalf, and that when Gabriel comes—not to be behind the times—he, too, will blow his own horn pretty loud.

PROVERBS WORTH PRESERVING.—Hasty people drinks the wine of life scalding hot.

Death's the only master who takes his servant without a character.

A sour-faced wife fills the tavern.

Content's the mother of good digestion.

When Pride and Poverty marry together, their children are Want and Crime.

Where hard work kills ten, idleness kills a hundred men.

Folly and pride walk side by side.

He that borrows, binds himself with a neighbor's rope.

He that's too good for good advice, is too good for his neighbor's company.

Friends and photographs never flatter.

Wisdom is always at home to those who call.

The firmest friends ask the fewest favors.

"TICKET SIR!"—A good story is related of a conductor on a railroad, who was a strict church going man, and was always found promptly in his church on the Sabbath. One Saturday his train was in very late, and he did not take his customary amount of sleep, which, however, did not prevent his attending divine service as usual. During the sermon he unwittingly fell into a troubled sleep, soothed by the monotonous voice of the clergyman. All at once he sprang from his seat, thrust his hat under his arm, and giving his neighbor in front a push, shouted, "Ticket sir!" The startled neighbor also sprang to his feet, which thoroughly aroused the conductor, who, looking wildly around, and seeing all eyes turned toward him, instantly "slid," amid a suppressed titter from the whole congregation.

ONE OF DANIEL WEBSTER'S BEST.—The late Kendall O. Peabody, of Franklin, was accustomed to tell the following, which we have never seen in print:—

Mr. Webster and Henry Clay were standing on the steps of one of the hotels in Washington, and Mr. Peabody was close by and heard what was said. A drove of Jackasses was passing by, and Mr. Clay thought it a good opportunity to get a joke upon Mr. Webster. He patted him upon the shoulder, pointed to the long-eared donkeys and said:

"Mr. Webster, there are some of your Northern constituents."

"Yes," replied the great statesman "going South to teach school."

PEACE.—Peace is better than joy. Joy is an uneasy guest, and always on tiptoe to depart.—It tires and wears us out, and yet keeps us ever fearing that the next moment it will be gone.—Peace is not so—it comes more quietly, it stays more contentedly, and it never exhausts our strength, nor gives us anxious forecasting thought. Therefore let us pray for peace. It is the gift of God—promised to all his children; and if we have it in our hearts we shall not pine for joy, though its bright wings never touch us while we tarry in the world.

PREPARATION FOR DEATH.—Death is the most certain of events. That it will come, no one can question; but when, no one can decide.—The young behold it far in the future; the aged regard it still at a distance; but both are smitten suddenly as a bolt from the cloud—a serpent from the brake—or a shaft from an unseen quiver. There is no safety, therefore, save in that habitual preparation which nothing can deceive, and nothing surprise.

DOESTICKS ON BILLIARDS.

Monsieur Berger, the celebrated French player, who is as much the King of the Billiard-Table as Paul Morphy is Emperor of the Chess-Board, has lately arrived in this country, and is now in New York, as the guest of Michael Phelan. His wonderful playing has been the theme of the daily papers for several days, but we think none of the reporters for the dailies are quite equal to the task of describing the miraculous shots of the rotund Frenchman, and therefore we copy the impressions of Doesticks, as given in a city paper:—

"I need hardly tell you that the game of billiards consists in punching ivory balls about on a big table covered with green cloth, that looks like half an acre of meadow-land, with an india-rubber fence round it; that the balls are punched with long wooden ramrods, with wax on the end to save the wood, and leather put on to save the wax, and chalk put on to keep the leather from wearing out. You take your ramrod and rub some chalk on the little end; then you lean over the table; then you squint; then you lift up your leg; then you fiddle a little on your left hand with your ramrod; then you punch your ball; if your ball runs against the other man's ball, you've done a big thing, and you poke up a lot of buttons that are strung on a wire. This is all there is of the game of billiards. Anybody can punch billiards—I can, and maybe you could.

"Well, Berger has come, the great French puncher; and of course I've been to see him punch a few billiards with Phelan. Phelan is a pretty fair puncher himself, but he can't punch so fast as Berger—in fact B. has to give P. a hundred buttons or so in every game. I've often played with Phelan myself, but he always beats me; he has a private understanding with the man that pokes the buttons—when Phelan punches the balls, the man pokes buttons; when I punch the balls, nary button will the man poke. So Phelan goes out; but my game is a little the best—in fact, I've challenged Phelan to play me a thousand buttons for a lot of money and I've offered to keep the game myself, so as to be sure all is fair. Phelan's conspiracy with the men who poke the buttons is a disgraceful thing; it discourages young men, and makes them think they can't punch billiards as well as Phelan can. I'm bound to break it up. But Berger has out generaled Phelan. Berger has bought over all Phelan's button pokers—pays 'em more money than Phelan did, and now they give Berger all the buttons.

"Ha! ha! Big thing on Michael!

"Well, on Friday, Berger was going to do some punching, and there was I in the midst.—Berger is a fat man; the top of his head is as bald as a goose egg, and he has got a stomach like a three-foot celestial globe—in fact, he is shaped just like a billiard-ball, and might be used for one, if you take his boots off and tie his heels to the back of his neck—only I don't want him to carom on me!

"He brought all his own tools with him from France—a table that isn't so long by a few feet as Phelan generally makes his—a lot of balls and ramrods, and everything. Room was full, all anxious to see the Frenchman punch; and the Frenchman punched, and such punching it was. He made the balls hop all over the table, and generally had three in the air at once.—Neil Bryant was there, and Neil is a pretty good judge of billiard punching. I did my favorite shot with great success, jumped my ball off the table, caromed on Neil Bryant, and holed it in a spittoon.

"Phelan said it was a big thing, so did Neil. Berger rolled himself round to the corner of the table, chalked his ramrod, and executed a fancy lick; he made his ball run three times round the table, on the edge of the cushion, leap off at a sharp angle, carom on Neil Bryant, come back to the table, take eighteen cushions, and stop exactly on the centre spot.

"Phelan had a try. He did one of the simple shots that I taught him—the one when the cue-ball takes twenty-one cushions, knocks the hats off three Dutchmen in the corner, comes back, stops inside the string. Berger didn't think much of that; so he took off his coat, rolled up his sleeves, and put in a tremendous lick; the ball hit Phelan on the middle vest button, caromed on Neil Bryant, came back to the table and took four cushions, went out of the window, gave a stage driver a black eye, came back and took a cushion, caromed on Neil Bryant, took two cushions, went twice round the block, took a cushion, went out through another window, and came in through the sky-light, took four cushions, and caromed on Neil Bryant, and all in four minutes, without stopping for breath or sweating a hair.

"All hands were occupied for forty minutes in reviving Phelan, who had fainted from envy.

☞ Where parties are unknown to us, our rule for advertising is to require payment in advance, or a guarantee from known persons. It is therefore useless for all such to send us advertisements offering to pay at the end of three or six months. Where advertisements are accompanied with the money, whether one, five or ten dollars, we will give the advertiser the full benefit of cash rates.

S. M. PETTENGILL & CO.,

Advertising Agents, 119 Nassau street, New York, and 10 State street, Boston, are the Agents for the Altoona Tribune, and the most influential and largest circulating Newspapers in the United States and the Canadas. They re authorized to contract for us at our lowest rates.

PEOPLE'S PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY.—We have received an advertisement and circular from the above company, making us a very fair offer to do a little for the furtherance of an object so much to be desired as a railroad to the Pacific, but for the reason that we are not satisfied with the information received and the reliability of the persons whose names are given as officers of the Company, we have not published the advertisement. We would not care much if, in the event of our publishing it, they would play us a "Yankee trick," but we do not want to be the instruments through which any of our readers should be deceived and swindled. When we are satisfied of the honesty of the intentions of those who are managers of this affair and their ability to push it along, we will gladly give them all the help we can.

RAILROAD WAR.—The Chicago Democrat says that the competition between the several railroad and steamboat lines connecting that city with St. Paul, Minnesota, has again culminated in an open war. Rates of fare have been put down to the figure of five dollars and a half for first class passage from Chicago to St. Paul, to Chicago the passenger can make his own terms, being taken for three dollars, or for nothing, as he chooses. The steamers charge nothing from St. Paul to Dunleith, or to the other railroad termini on the river. A man could now travel cheap between these points, if he was willing to run the risk of being blown up on a steamboat, or landing at the foot of an embankment with two or three railroad cars on top of him.

THE LOST BOY FOUND.—The son of Mr. David Buchanan, of Newport, Perry county, Pa., who had been enticed from his home a few weeks since, by a straggling Yankee, was found in Clearfield county by his father. The vagabond who had taken the boy, had been giving some theatrical performances in that county, assisted by the boy, and finally succeeded in picking a man's pocket, and then left for parts unknown, and also leaving the boy behind. Mr. Buchanan having ascertained by a boatman the direction they had taken, went in pursuit of them, and finally found the boy as above, and brought him home, perhaps a better and wiser boy.

SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE.—We learn from the Harrisburg Telegraph that Col. J. J. Patterson, member elect from Juniata county, will be a candidate for Speaker of the House. We have known the Col. long and intimately, and are satisfied that he has the ability to make a good presiding officer, combining experience with quick perceptive faculties, inflexible resolutions and presence of mind amid difficulties. We wish the Col. success, believing that on the score of services to party, as well as qualifications for the office, he deserves it.

THANKSGIVING.—Governor Packer has issued a proclamation appointing Thursday, November 29th, as a day of public thanksgiving and prayer to Almighty God, for the mercies he has shown us and the blessings he has showered upon us, as a people, during the past year. It is believed that the day will be universally observed throughout the State, and we hope that the business men of Altoona will close their places on that day, and that all our citizens will desist from labor and observe the day in a becoming manner.

REFUSE THEM.—The telegraph announces the circulation of some $300,000 in counterfeit bills on the Boon County Bank, Indiana. The notes are printed from the genuine plate, but the signatures are forged. The officers of the bank were interested in the forgery and have all been arrested. Our readers who would be on the safe side should by all means refuse the bills of this bank.

STUDENTS' QUARTERLY.—This is the title of a little work, of some 32 pages, issued quarterly by Geo. F. McFarland, principal of McAlisterville Academy, Juniata County. It contains articles from the pens of the students attending the Academy, many of which are worth reading. It is published at the low price of 35 cents per annum.

The Ladies' Home Magazine for November surpasses, in richness and interest, all previous numbers. It denotes prosperity, and most certainly it deserves it. T. S. Arthur and Virginia F. Townsend could get up an attractive book themselves without the assistance of their able corps of contributors. Price $2 per annum.

IMPROVED.—The Johnstown Echo has been dressed up in a suit of new type, and now makes a decidedly neat appearance. Capt. Smith gets up a decidedly spicy paper, and we are pleased to note this evidence of his prosperity.

LETTER FROM IRELAND.

Correspondence of the Altoona Tribune.

GIANT'S CAUSEWAY, COUNTY ANTRIM, September 15, 1860.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—In my letter of the 12th I said I would in my next give a description of the Giants Causeway, Dunluce Castle, Carrick-a-Reed, &c. I did not think of writing until next week, but since I start to Liverpool to-morrow, I thought it prudent to write my letter to-day, finish it to-night, and have it ready to send from Liverpool by a friend who goes by the Steam Ship, City of Glasgow. So this will account for my writing two letters in so short a time. I spent one day at the Causeway, one at Dunluce Castle, and the third I went to see Carrick-a-Reed, Bally Castle and other places of interest. Well, the Causeway is situated at the northern part of Ireland, 2 miles from Bushmills. I got into a car, paid a sixpence, and was landed at the front door of the Causeway Hotel—which is nothing more nor less than a public robbery. I was hungry, and ordered dinner. All hotels are kept upon the European method, i. e. you must order what you want to eat, and you get nothing else but what you have ordered. Well, when it came, I eat what was before me and could get no more; and they charged for seven, at least the bill looked so. I would caution all who visit the Causeway to get a lunch at Mrs. Reids, in Bushmills, take it with them, and never set your foot inside of the Causeway Hotel; if you do, they will charge you for every step you take, and also for the time the waiter consumes in counting them. After I secured what was set down as a dinner, I, in company with my guide, Mr. Alexander Laverty, who is employed by Lord Antrim at a stated salary, proceeded to view the Causeway; and here I would say, guides are plenty, but if any of the Altoonians wish to go to see this great curiosity, secure the services of the guide above named, and you will see all and receive a more minute description of all, while others will hurry you over, in order to make the more money during the day. We first take the circuit in a boat, and have the various objects pointed out by the guide, and afterward to visit them by land.—Not until 1693 was public attention called to the Giant's Causeway, since which time the district has been visited by thousands of tourists, among whom were some of the leading scientific men of the world. To form a conception of the appearance of this extraordinary work of nature, we must suppose a wild rock shore, with here a shoal, and there a beating cliff, alternating with deposit of debris. But the majority of our rocks in cliffs are deposited in layers one above another, whereas these are composed of perpendicular columns, some five, some six sided, and though seperate, fitting so closely together as to exclude even in some places a sheet of paper.—The exposed end of these columns form the Causeway, their entire length in other places forming ribbed or fluted crags. Nor are the pillars themselves continuous, but composed of several pieces fitted together by convex and concave surfaces. I was told there is but one triangular pillar throughout the whole extent of the three Causeway's. It stands near the east side of the Grand Causeway. There are but three pillars of nine sides; one of them is situated in the Honey Comb, and the others not far from the triangular pillars just noticed. The total number of four and eight sides bear but a small proportion to the entire mass of pillars, of which it may be safely computed that ninety-nine out of one hundred have either five, six or seven sides. These columns, I am told, are composed chemically of about one-half flinty earth, one-quarter iron, and one-quarter clay and lime. They are plutonic in their origin, that is, formed by a perfect fusion of the ingredients into one mass, which in cooling has cracked or crystalized into regular forms, as starch will in drying. We walk over the heads of some forty thousand columns, (for this number has been counted by some curious and leisurely persons,) all beautifully cut and polished, formed of such neat pieces so exactly fitted to each other, and so cleverly supported, that we might fancy we had before us the work of ingenious human artificers, and yet, what we behold is the result of the immutable laws of nature, acting without any apparent object, and by a process which must remain a mystery forever to our understanding. We got into the boat in Cow Bay and sailed out into the angry ocean. The first we we come to is Portcoon Cave, about a half a mile west of the Causeway. It can be visited either by land or water. Like most other caves, it has no striking peculiarity, and is merely interesting as a cave. The echo produced by a musical instrument is said to be delicious, while that of a loaded gun or small cannon is tremendous.—The story goes that this cave was inhabited by a hermit giant, who, having taken a solemn oath never to touch food brought to him by human hands, was fed by seals, who carried him provisions in their mouths. Dunkerry Cave is one which can only be entered by water. The entrance is tolerably regular, and these caves all somewhat resemble a gothic arch. This cave is situated to the west of Portcoon. Perhaps the most peculiar circumstance connected with this cave, is the rising of the water within in response to the swell of the ocean, which upon this coast is at all times heavy, and as each successive wave rolls into the cave, the surface rises so slowly and awfully that a nervous person would be apprehensive of a ceaseless increase in the elevation of the waters until they reached the summit of the cave. Of this, however, there need not be the most distant apprehension, the roof being 60 feet above the high water mark. There is still another cave, which cannot be entered at all, on account of the sunken rocks, hence we can only say we saw it. It is a resort for wild pigeons and other birds, both of sea and land, that go into this cave to build nests and hatch out their young.

Passing the beautiful little bay of Portnabaw, we gradually gain sight of the Steucans, two peculiar hills which divide the bays Portnabaw and Port Ganniay. A little way further we came to the Giant's Well, a little hole in the basaltic flooring which is filled with clear fresh water. The legend which tells of the giant or giants who lived in this wild retreat have of necessity furnished every means of subsistance and amusement for the portly inhabitants; such as the organ, chimneys, a ball alley, and even a pulpit, and in the face of so much of the briny deep it would be hard to refuse them a draught of pure cold water, and we accordingly find this little pool dubbed the giants well. Here you will be met by a very old man, who will offer you a cup of water from this well, and if you wish he will also offer a glass of what is known as Bushmills whiskey, said to be the best in the world, all this he will give you for tepence hapenny, i. e. five cents. The Causeway is divided into three longdes, the Little, the Middle, and the Grand Causeways. It would be impossible to give anything like a correct idea of the Causeway and its accompaning wonders by description, so that the reader might see it as I did; nay, it appears to me that while writing I am detracting from its grandeur by offering to picture it before the reader. I was lost in admiration. The legend of the Causeway is:—A certain giant, by name Fin M'Coul, was the Champion of Ireland, and felt very much aggrieved at the insolent boasting of a certain Caledonian giant, who offered to beat all that came before him, and even dared to tell Fin that, if it weren't for the wetting of himself, he would swim over and give him a drubbing. Fin at last applied to the King, who, perhaps, not daring to question the doings of such a weighty man, gave him leave to construct a Causeway right across to Scotland, in which the Scot walked over and fought the Irishman. Fin turned out victor, and with an amount of generosity quite becoming his Hibernian descent, kindly allowed his former rival to marry and settle in Ireland, which the Scot was loath to do, seeing that at that time living in Scotland was none of the best, and every body knew that Ireland was the richest country in the world. Since the death of the giants, the Causeway, being no longer wanted, has sunk under the sea; only leaving a portion of itself visible here, a little at the Island of Rathlin, and the portals of the grand gate in Staffa. The Giants Gateway and Loom, seen on turning to leave the Causeway, are composed of a series of colums, the perpendicular length of which are exposed to view. The Giant Organ is a similar object, but more beautiful than either. It forms no part of the Causeway, but is placed apart in the mountain, and consists of a number of large pillars, declining on either side to shorter and shorter ones—like the strings of a harp, and we might really imagine a Giant Organist sitting playing at it, especially as the basaltic pillars, when struck give forth a metalic ring. The Legend says, this organ is played every Christmas, and the Causeway dances around three times, and the tune played is "St. Patrick's day in the morning." Portnoffer Bay is passed, from which the Shepherd's Path leads over the cliff to a country perfectly level and grass grown, presenting a strange contrast to the iron-bound coast.—Next we came to the Giants Amphitheatre.—The form is so exact half a circle, that no architect could have possibly made it more so, and the cliff slopes at precisely the same angle all round to the centre. Round the upper part runs a row of columns 80 feet high, then comes a broad rounded projection, like an immense bench, for the accommodation of the giant guests of Fin McCoul, then again a row of pillars 60 feet high, and then again a gigantic bench, and so down to the bottom, where the water is enclosed by a circle of black boulder stones, like the limits of the Arena. This is a scene, no one can say too much about. It is said the great Roman Amphitheatre is not to be compared to this—indeed, I think all any writer could say about this place must remain far behind the truth. The Giant's chimney-tops are three isolated pillars standing on a promontory—the tallest of them is about 45 feet in height. It is said that one of the ships belonging to Spanish Armada was driven into the coast by stress of weather, and in the mist took these isolated columns, there more numerous, for the towers of Dunluce, and wasted their powder in firing at them. Port-na-Spania, the bay at the west end of which these Sentinels are placed, was, it is reported, the scene of the loss of one or more of the Spanish vessels, and certainly no coast could be more likely to destroy whatsoever sailed incautiously upon it. Next we see the Priest and his flock; the nursing child, or the old woman with her nurse—very much like it. Next we come to a collection of rocks, large and small—one of them is crowned. This group is called the King and his Nobles. But, Messrs. Editors, my letter is longer now than I usually write, and I am not half done with a description of the Causeway. I wish to do it justice, yet I cannot unless I write much more concerning it. Well, I will close this letter, promising that in my next I will finish my description of this great wonder, and then we will go to Dunluce, the Skerries and the White Rocks, and, if possible, we will get to Carrick-a-Reed, &c. We will, therefore, commence at The Pleaskin in the next letter. Here comes my friend, Mr. Jones, who says "Where is your letter?" so I must close it and hand over.

Yours, very Respectfully,
W. R. BOYERS.

Fatal Railroad Accident.—Some days ago an accident, resulting in the death of a man named McIntosh, occurred near Portage station on the Pennsylvania Railroad. McIntosh, it appears, had gone to a spring along the Railroad, and in the vicinity of the station, for the purpose of procuring a drink, and after quenching his thirst, stepped upon the track with the intention of returning, but seeing a freight train eastward coming towards him, he passed to the other track without noticing the Express train approaching in an opposite direction, and which came upon and crushed him to death almost instantly. McIntosh was a man of family and in destitute circumstances.

☞ The sanctum of the editor and proprietor of the Huntsman's Echo, a sheet printed in Nebraska, presents sometimes strange sights. "Last week," the editor says, "upon two occasions, from our office, we witnessed the playful pranks of several antelope, and again a sprightly red fox came up near the enclosure, but out and run when Towser came in sight; a nice race they had, and both made time, but reynard the best. A week ago two grizzly bears and three large wolves hove in sight and played round on the prairie at a safe distance; the same chaps, propably, that made a tender meal from a good sized calf of ours that had been running out. The buffalo have taken our caution, and for two weeks have not troubled us."

Election Returns.

THE LATEST BY TELEGRAPH.

JOHNSTOWN, Nov. 6.—In six districts Lincoln gains 71 over Curtin in Cambria county.

CHESTER COUNTY.—In nine districts gain for Lincoln over Curtin's majority 200, indicating 3,000 majority. Eight Bell votes so far as heard from.

Lancaster County about 8,000 for Lincoln.

WILLMORE.—Lincoln has a gain of 17 in the borough and 4 in township over October election.

Lancaster City 86 maj. for Lincoln.—Mauch Chunk 126 maj. for Lincoln.

ERIE CITY, Nov. 6.—Lincoln has a maj. over fusion in Erie City. County good for 4,000 maj.

Mifflin county, Lincoln maj. 500.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 6.—Allegheny county gives Lincoln 9,800 majority.

GALLITZIN, Nov. 6.—Vote of Gallitzin, Cambria county, Democratic vote, 57 Republican vote, 45, Democratic loss of 21 from October election.

A MODEL TOWNSHIP.—In Lewis township, Clay county, Indiana, they have a sort of foretaste of the millenium. It has within its limits one hundred and seventy families, all white, except one, and they keep dark about it. There are in it one hundred and sixty-five voters, and during the last twenty years there has never been a fight nor a quarrel at any election held in the township. It contains seven school-houses, seven road districts, seven bachelors and seven large men; three pair of twin boys, three fiddlers, three carpenters, three post offices, three crazy men and three over 75 years old. There is not a lawyer, doctor, or loafer in it, nor a grocery nor pauper. A better, friendlier, happier population is not to be found in the State.

☞ The style of weddings in London is getting to be most magnificent, and at the best weddings there are sometimes sixteen bridesmaids—all wearing vails, and looking like a procession of nuns, though perhaps not quite thinking as staidly. As it is the fashion to make each a costly present of a diamond locket of no less value than £100, the money mounts up with the increase of this unusual item of marriage expenses

☞ A poor woman lost her purse while marketing at Dubuque Iowa, last week. A policeman, trying to find it, had for a single clue, that a man carrying a sack of potatoes was seen to pick up something. The officer obtained a couple of potatoes of the same sort from the dealer, and following the matter up, came on the man, who blustered, prevaricated, and lied by turns, and at last gave up the purse.

A Brief Sermon.—The following sermon is brief and to the point, comprising in five lines a great deal of truth:—

Our ingress in life is naked and bare,
Our progress through life is trouble and care,
Our egress out of it we know not where.
But doing well here, we shall do well there;
I could not tell more by preaching a year.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

To Consumptives.

The advertiser, having been restored to health in a few weeks by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure cure for CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address.

CAIRO, Ill., July 29th, 1860.

Messrs. JOHN WILCOX & Co.—Your "Inpective," or "Persian Fever Charm," has done wonders. I was wholly despondent and wretched when I applied it, and in five hours the chills were removed and no fever has ensued. It is the simplest cure imaginable, and a wonder of nature or art. I would not be without this "Inpective" a single hour.—By constantly wearing I seem to be "ague proof."

Yours very truly, E. M. STOUT.

MOBILE, Alabama, July 23d, 1860.

GENTLEMEN:—I have been snatched from the grave by the application of your wonderful "Inpective," or "Persian Fever Charm." For several years I have suffered every season from Fever and Ague. Last Spring my life was threatened, but your remedy has destroyed the disease and I am rapidly gaining an appetite and strength.

Respectfully yours, D. N. BARRON.

This truly wonderful preventive and cure for Fever and Ague and Bilious Fevers will be sent mail, post paid, on receipt of one dollar. Also for sale at all respectable Druggists and Country Stores.

Principal Depot and Manufactory, 188 Main St., Richmond, Va. Branch Office, Bank of Commerce Building, New York. Address JOHN WILCOX.

COMMON SENSE rules the mass of the people, whatever the misnamed and misanthrope philosophers may say to the contrary. Show them a good thing; let its merit be clearly demonstrated, and they will not hesitate to give it their most cordial patronage. The masses have already ratified the judgment of a physician, concerning the virtues of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, as may be seen by the immense quantities of this medicine which are annually sold in every section of the land. It is now recognized as greatly superior to all other remedies yet devised for diseases of the digestive organs, such as diarrhœa, dysentery, dyspepsia, and for the various fevers that arise from derangement of those portions of the system. Hostetter's name is rapidly becoming a household word, from Maine to Texas, from the shores of the Atlantic to the Pacific. Try the article and be satisfied.

Sold by all druggists in the world.

Blood Food.

Attention is called to this most remarkable and scientific preparation, advertised in another column. It is an entirely new discovery, and must not be confounded with any of the numerous patent medicines of the day. It is a certain remedy for all the diseases specified, and especially those of a chronic nature—of long standing—of weeks, months, and years. Sufferers, try it!

Messrs. CHURCH & DUPONT, of New York, are the sole agents for it, and also proprietors of the world-renowned Dr. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, an article which every Mother should have in her medicine closet in case of need; and containing, as it does, no paregoric or opiate of any kind, it can be relied upon with the utmost confidence, and will be found an invaluable specific in all cases of Infantile Complaints.—Ohio State Journal, Columbus. ☞ See advertisement.

Weakness of the Stomach and Indigestion.

Another Great Cure effected by Brichave's Holland Bitters.

The wife of Pieter De Witte, living in Holland Town, Sheboygan county, Wisconsin, suffered much from Weakness of the Stomach and Indigestion. She had been under a physician's care for some time, but the disease seemed to baffle even his skill. She purchased some HOLLAND BITTERS at our office, which has given tone to her stomach; her appetite and strength are returning, and we firmly believe that this is another great cure effected by your medicine.

We have still to record many wonderful cures effected by this remedy, but must wait another opportunity. One thing you can rely upon, what we have published are from persons much respected in our community, and are literally true. J. QUINTUS,

A Novelty in the Art World!

PHOTOGRAPHY UPON PORCELAIN.

Secured by letters patent in the United States, England, France, and Belgium.

THE AMERICAN PHOTOGRAPHIC PORCELAIN COMPANY, No. 781 Broadway, New York, having secured their novel and ingenious invention by American and European patents, are fully prepared to execute all orders for presenting all the attractive and advantageous features of ordinary photographs, the brilliancy and finish of a water-color drawing, and a fidelity to unattained quality of durability, by being rendered as imperishable as the natural properties of the articles upon which they are transferred.

Miniature Likenesses of Persons on China

As the patented process of the Company enables the reproduction of Photographs, not only on plain surfaces, but upon such as are round or of any degree of irregularity—portraits can be reproduced with faithless accuracy, and delicacy of delineation, upon Porcelain, wares of any description and dimension used as articles of luxury or of household utility, such as thereby securing faithful portraits and furnishing a unique and exquisite style of ornamentation of articles in domestic use.

In order to furnish facilities for the gratification of the popular taste, and to meet the wants of those patrons of the Fine Arts desirous of having Portraits on Porcelain, the Company have imported from Europe a collection of superior porcelain goods, manufactured to their own order, which they sell at cost prices.

As the American Company are owners of the patent right, and consequently the only persons authorized to use the process, they have determined, in order

To afford People in every section of the Union

an opportunity to possess

PORTRAITS ON CHINA,

to make the following proposition to Residents in the Country, who are unable to visit personally the Atelier and Galleries in New York.

Persons sending a photograph, ambrotype, or daguerreotype to the office of the Company in New York, accompanied by

FIVE DOLLARS,

they will secure in like manner,

A handsome French Vase or Toilet Article, with the Portrait reproduced by the patented process.

By sending a pair of daguerreotypes and

FIFTEEN DOLLARS,

they will receive in return

A Pair of rich Sevres Vases, with the portraits executed equal to miniature paintings and, in like manner, portraits can be reproduced on porcelain vases or

Vases of every Quality of Finish, ranging in price from

Twenty to One Hundred Dollars the Pair.

LOCAL ITEMS.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.—The proceedings of last court, as given by the Hollidaysburg papers, are too lengthy for our columns, therefore we will present only a condensed statement of the principal cases :—

Com. vs Michael Corcoran. Indictment—assault and battery with intent to commit rape on the person of Mrs. Catharine Filer. The evidence against him was conclusive and he made no defence. The jury returned a verdict of guilty without leaving the box. He was sentenced to undergo an imprisonment of four years in the Western Penitentiary, in separate and solitary confinement at hard labor, pay a fine of $5 and costs of prosecution.

Com. vs. Jacob Kephart. Indictment—larceny. Jacob stole a pair of boots from Philip Dempsey, in this place, was detected, placed in jail, had his trial, was found guilty and Judge Taylor gave him a situation for nine months in the Western Penitentiary, in separate and solitary confinement, at hard labor.

Com. vs. John Brown. Indictment—larceny, John helped himself to a pair of pants belonging to Moses Shoenthal, of Hollidaysburg, without the permission of Mr. S. Plead guilty, and was sentenced to undergo an imprisonment of nine months in the Western Penitentiary.

We noticed last week that Hugh Ossman had been convicted of manslaughter in the killing of Wm. Meadville, at Fostoria, last summer. He was sentenced to pay a fine of five dollars and costs of prosecution and undergo an imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary, of separate and solitary confinement at hard labor, for the term of six years.

Frederick Lehle, a lager beer saloon keeper of this place, was indicted for selling liquor to a minor, and found guilty. On motion of L. W. Hall, Esq., the defendant was granted a new trial. Same defendant was also indicted for selling liquor on Sunday, but the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty."

Cure for Diptheria or Sore Throat.—The rapid spread and alarming fatality of this disease, has induced many persons, who, no doubt, were honest in their intentions, to give to the public the various remedies which have proved effectual in cases that came under their observation. Some of these remedies may be good, but we would not advise any persons to trust in them. The best thing to be done is to go or send for a physician as soon as the disease makes its appearance. Do not delay until the assistance of a physician can be of no effect. While we are opposed to relying upon published remedies for such a dangerous disease, we may be permitted to copy the following from an exchange paper, remarking that while it appears to us to be the most rational of any we have yet seen, still it should have the sanction and direction of your family physician :—

"Diptheria or sore throat can always be cured by the following simple, rational treatment, if resorted to in the forming stage; and, in most cases, in any and every stage of the disease.—The treatment consists in converting a virulent, specific sore throat into an artificial sore throat, by the free application of nitrate of silver (lunar caustic), either in substance or strong solution —thirty grains to a half ounce of cold water—to be applied to the whole visible internal throat. Fear not—use liberally and you will cure every case. Such has been my experience. What can be more rational? A superficial burn will heal by a natural process; a specific, virulent disease will not. Physicians, try it. If resorted to early, and thoroughly applied, it will never fail. AN EXPERIENCED PHYSICIAN.

Repair Your Pavements.—Board walks are very nice institutions so long as they are in good repair, but when the boards get loose and the sleepers laid under them work out of their places, and you feel as though you were walking on spring boards, then they are not so nice; and especially is it not so agreeable, in wet weather, to walk along at a rapid gait and, on stepping suddenly upon one of these loose boards, have the water spurt up through a crack in a board, or between the boards, and bespatter your clean boots and pantaloons. And if such things be so disagreeable to the lords of creation, what must be the effect upon the nether garments of the fair sex. Oh! it is horrible to contemplate. Many of the boardwalks about town are in the condition above described, and the neglect of the owners to repair them is becoming intolerable. They should be repaired immediately, before the wet season has fairly set in.

Pickpockets About.—Will McCrea, son of C. R. McCrea, was relieved of his watch while waiting for the mail to be changed at the Post Office in this place, on Saturday evening last. He felt it going out of his pocket, and made immediate search for it but could find nothing of it. We have often thought, while being crowded around in the small delivery room at the Post Office, which is always packed on the arrival of the evening mail, that it would be a fine place for pickpockets to operate, and the wonder to us is that money and valuables have not been missed ere this. Undoubtedly there are now some light fingered gentry in our midst, as we have heard of another case of pocket picking lately, and it would be well for those who attend the Post Office in the evening to keep their hands on their pocket books and have their watches well secured.

"Poor old Hoss."—A crowd of men and boys had a "high old time," last evening, in abstracting an old horse from a ditch which had been dug in the street at the entrance of the alley back of the Superintendent's Office. The horse had ran away from his owner, who was stopping at White Hall Hotel, and not "knowing the ropes" about town, tumbled into the aforesaid ditch and injured his back and hind legs so much that he was unable to get out. The crowd which collected to render him the needed assistance was large enough to have pulled a four horse team and a yoke of oxen out of an Illinois swamp and they did yelling enough to raise the roof of a bank barn. After getting the horse out he was unable to stand up, whereupon a kindly board was placed under him, with several men at each end, and he was helped up street, followed by the crowd, some of whom were feeding him hay, others rubbing him down, and altogether making capital sport out of the folly and misfortunes of a "poor old hoss."

Shocking Railroad Accident.—An old man, named James George, while returning home from a Republican meeting at Latrobe, on Friday night, was run over by the lightning train on the Pennsylvania Railroad, and instantly killed. The engineer saw him about thirty feet ahead of the locomotive and signalled him to leave the track. The unfortunate man attempted to get out of the way, but was too late.—The engine struck him with tremendous force, pitching him a distance of several feet, and inflicting injuries from which instant death must have ensued. But the most distressing feature, perhaps, of the occurrence yet remains to be told. The train was stopped as soon as possible, and one of the brakesmen going back to where the body lay, was horrified to recognize, in the mutilated remains before him, the person of his own father. The young man's anguish may be more easily imagined than described, and drew tears from many of the passengers. An inquest was held on the body on Saturday, and a verdict of accidental death rendered.

To Parents.—Here is an item from the pen of a traveller, who is also a writer of distinction, which we commend to the attention of parents. The truth of it must be apparent to every reader, without comments by us :—

"When I lived among the Choctow Indians, I held a consultation with one of their chiefs respecting the successive stages of their progress in the art of civilized life; and, among other things, he informed me that at their start they fell into a great mistake—they only sent boys to school. These boys came home intelligent men, but they married uneducated and uncivilized wives—and the uniform result was, the children were all like their mothers. The father soon lost all his interest in both wife and children. "And now," said he, "if we would educate but one class of our children, we should choose the girls, for when they become mothers they educate their sons."

The item is not intended to convey the impression that it is unnecessary to educate boys, but that the education of girls is equally as important as that of boys.

Halloween.—This time honored evening, so widely celebrated in Scottish song, passed over this place without one-half of our people ever giving it a thought. Time was, and it is not long since, when those who forgot the return of the 31st evening of October, and left their cabbage stand out, were very apt to find the best heads missing the next morning, and things generally strewed around miscellaneously, all of which they could attribute to the freaks of the witches and hobgoblins who go "spooking round" on this occasion. We have not heard of any mischief being done in this place, on that evening.

Important Improvement.—Our colored friends, determed not to be behind in this age of progress, have determined to fit up their old Log Church in a style to make it not only more of an ornament to the town, but more comfortable for winter worship. We do not know whether we were informed rightly or not, by "one of 'em," when he said—"We is goin' to get permission blinds, and Gas, 'cause de champaign is 'jurious to de institution"—we presume not; for our colored friends are neither aristocratic nor extravagant. Success to the commenced improvement.

Job Printing.—We have just added one of Hickok's best Ruling Machines to our job office, and we are now prepared to do blank, bill-head, manifest and all kinds of printing in which rule work is required. We have now as complete a job office as can be found outside of the cities, and can execute all kinds of work on the shortest notice and in the very best style. Come along, business men, and have some neat billheads, cards, circulars, or handbills, and let people know that you are still doing business.

Good for Tuckahoe!—Mrs. John Anderson will accept the thanks of the editors, their better halves and the devils, for those tremendous big heads of cabbage sent to our office last week. They were as big as—well, we were going to compare them to the moon, but we won't; they were not quite so large as that orb, but they were "whoppers." If any body else has a couple of heads of cabbage which they think are larger than those sent us by Mrs. A., let them send them along and we will soon decide.

Consecration.—St. Luke's Episcopal Church, in this place, was consecrated on Thursday morning last, by Bishop Potter. Quite a number of clergymen belonging to this denomination were present and took part in the preceeding exercises. The weather was rather disagreeable, notwithstanding there was a large turn out on the occasion of the consecration. Our Episcopalian friends have now one of the neatest churches to be found in the country, and what is better, it is entirely free from debt.

Bitten by a Dog.—A little boy, named Power, was severely bitten on Friday evening last, by the watch dog kept in J. & J. Lowther's store. The dog is naturally good natured and would not harm any one on the street, but some of the boys have a fashion of throwing stones at, and otherwise annoying, him during the day, while he is tied in the warehouse, adjoining the store, and he evidently remembers those who thus annoy him, as the boy who was bitten has been one of his worst tormentors.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., November 5,

D. W. Moore, special agent of the Post Office depot, on Saturday last arrested Jno. A. McConnell, Assistant Post-Master at Newry, Blair Co., Pa., on the charge of robbing the mail. Mr. McConnell was committed, in default of bail, to await his trial, at the next term of the United States District Court for the Western district of Pennsylvania.

Fruit Cake.—One pound of sugar, one pound of flour, ten eggs, two pounds of raisins, one pound of currants, (picked and washed,) and one pound of citron. Beat the sugar and butter together until creamed, then beat the eggs and then add them in, beating thoroughly; also put in a portion of cinnamon and mace, as much as is agreeable to you, and a small quantity of brandy.

Resignation.—Rev. A. B. Clark has resigned his position as President of the Altoona Gas and Water Company, and Wm. H. Wilson, Esq., has been chosen to fill the vacancy.

MARRIED:

On the 30th ult., by the Rev. S. Creighton, Mr. GEORGE H. HAWKSWORTH to Miss TILLIE CAUFFMAN, both of this place.

There it is again. Another jovial spirit has deserted the bachelor club and enrolled his name among the happy number who have no dread of cold winter nights. Good for you, George; and it would be well for some of your companions if they could muster the courage to follow your example. They should take the hint given by the the poet, in the following language :

"Cold weather is coming! a delicate hinter,
When taken in Nature's legitimate sense;
Those who intend to get married this Winter,
Had better at once jump over the fence."

Hope they'll "jump over" soon, and follow your example in sending the printers one of the prettiest cakes that has graced our table for many days. Please accept the thanks of all hands for your favor, and be assured that our best wishes are with you and yours for future happiness and prosperity.

On the 6th inst., by Rev. J. B. Ehrenfelt, Mr. E. P. MILLER, of this place, to Miss NANNIE J. BELL, of Logan township.

There goes another good fellow who has tired of the cold comforts of "single blessedness," and improved the hint given by the poet in the verse above quoted. Here's our ☞ Life, and a hearty welcome to the ranks of the "double blessed," as we know you will make an honorable member thereof. But how shall we return thanks for that peck basket of good thing which was deposited upon our table, the sight of which caused our "typographical spirits of evil" to dance "Fisher's Hornpipe," and knocked our ideas all into "pi." Permit us to join your friends in a sincere wish that the future may prove as bright as a May morning to you and your fair and worthy companion, and that the goddess of fortune may ever smile propitiously upon you.

On the 25th ult., by John Griffin, Esq., Mr. WM. H. YINGLING to Miss NANCY C. MILLER, all of Logan township.

TAKE NOTICE.—THE UNDERSIGNED hereby gives notice to all persons who know themselves indebted to him, either by Note or Book Account, to call and settle up at once, as he is greatly in need of money at the present time.

DISSOLUTION.—NOTICE IS hereby given that the partnership enterned into on the 20th of January, 1860, between Richard Tinkelpaugh, Rebecca Tinkelpaugh his wife, and John Lehr, to be terminated at the will of either party, was dissolved on the 20th day of May, 1860. JOHN LEHR.

WOLFE'S Pure Scotch and Irish Whisky.
ALL IN BOTTLES.

I beg leave to call the attention of the citizens of the United States to the above Wines and Liquors, imported by UDOLPHO WOLFE, of New York, whose name is familiar in every part of this country for the purity of his celebrated SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS. Mr. Wolfe, in his letter to me, speaking of the purity of his Wines and Liquors, says: "I will stake my reputation as a man, my standing as a merchant of thirty years' residence in the city of New York, that all the Brandy and Wines which I bottle are pure as imported, and of the best quality, and can be relied upon by every purchaser." Every bottle has the proprietor's name on the wax, and a fac simile of his signature of the certificate.—The public are respectfully invited to call and examine for themselves. For sale at Retail by all Apothecaries and Grocers in Philadelphia.
GEORGE H. ASHTON, No. 832 Market St., Phila.
Sole Agent for Philadelphia.

Read the following from the New York Courier:
ENORMOUS BUSINESS FOR ONE NEW YORK MERCHANT.—We are happy to inform our fellow-citizens that there is one place in our city where the physician, apothecary, and country merchant, can go and purchase pure Wines and Liquors, as pure as imported, and of the best quality. We do not intend to give an elaborate description of this merchant's extensive business, although it will well repay any stranger or citizen to visit Udolpho Wolfe's extensive warehouse, Nos. 18, 20 and 22, Beaver street, and Nos. 17, 19 and 21, Marketfield street. His stock of Schnapps on hand ready for shipment could not have been less than thirty thousand cases; the Brandy, seventeen thousand cases—Vintages of 1836 to 1856; and ten thousand cases of Madeira, Sherry and Port Wine, Scotch and Irish Whiskey, Jamaica and St. Croix Rum, some very old and equal to any in this country. He also had three large cellars, filled with Brandy, Wine, &c., in casks, under Custom-House key, ready for bottling. Mr. Wolfe's sales of Schnapps last year amounted to one hundred and eighty thousand dozen, and we hope in less than two years he may be equally successful with his Brandies and Wines.
His business merits the patronage of every lover of his species. Private families who wish pure Wines and Liquors for medical use should send their orders direct to Mr. Wolfe, until every Apothecary in the land make up their minds to discard the poisonous stuff from their shelves, and replace it with Wolfe's pure Wines and Liquors.
We understand that Mr. Wolfe, for the accommodation of small dealers in the country, puts up assorted cases of Wines and Liquors. Such a man, and such a merchant, should be sustained against his tens of thousands of opponents in the United States, who sell nothing but imitations, ruinous alike to human health and happiness.

Salt River Passengers, Ho!

AS THE SUBSCRIBER WILL BE under the necessity of leaving early in November for the head waters of Salt River, in the ship UNION, which will positively sail about that time; and knowing that many of my friends will go along and will want an outfit, I take this opportunity of informing them as well as all my old friends and customers, that I have just returned from the East, where I purchased a large stock of Goods, which I am now opening at my store in North Ward, to which I invite inspection. It is the

LARGEST AND HANDSOMEST

as well as the CHEAPEST lot of Goods brought to the town this fall. The reason why I say the CHEAPEST is obvious to every reflecting mind, because as the season advances (the merchants in the east say) prices decline, therefore I have an advantage of from 20 to 25 per cent. over those who purchased early in the season, and I can and will sell cheaper than any other house in the place. Purchasers will thus at once see the propriety of at least examining my stock before buying elsewhere. My stock consists of all the newest styles of

LADIES' DRESS GOODS

for the season, also a full assortment of

GROCERIES, BOOTS AND SHOES,
LADIES' SHAKER BONNETS,

Misses' Felt and Straw Hats, and everything in the line of Dry Goods and Notions which it is unnecessary to enumerate. All of which will be sold for cash, or to prompt paying monthly customers, or exchanged for all articles of Produce which can be consumed here or exchanged for goods in the East.

NEW GROCERY AND LIQUOR STORE.—The undersigned would beg leave to announce to the citizens of Blair county and vicinity that he has opened his new Store on Virginia street, three doors below the Superintendent's Office, where he has just received from the East and West a large assortment of consisting as follows:

Foreign and Domestic Liquors,

French Otard Brandy, Cognac Brandy, Peach Brandy, Cherry Brandy, Old Burgundy Wine, Old Port Wine, Jamaica Rum, Holland Gins Old Rye Whiskey, Monongahela Whiskey, and Ichine Wine, which he has himself imported. Retailers of Liquors and Farmers will find it to their advantage to buy of him, as he will sell at CITY PRICES.
He will also keep constantly on hand an assortment of

GROCERIES,

Such as Flour, Bacon, Salt, Fish, Tobacco, Segars, Syrup, Sugar, Coffee, &c., &c.,
All of which will be sold cheap for cash or Country Produce.
Our friends and the public generally are respectfully invited to give us a call before purchasing elsewhere.

EXCHANGE HOTEL.—THE SUBSCRIBER would respectfully inform the public that he has recently refitted the above Hotel, and is now prepared to accommodate his friends and patrons in a comfortable manner, and he will spare no pains in making it an agreeable home for all sojourners. His Table will always be luxuriously supplied from the markets of the country and cities, and his Bar filled with liquors of choice brands. His charges are as reasonable as those of any other Hotel in the place, and he feels satisfied they can not be complained of by those who favor him with their custom. Expecting to receive a share of public patronage, and fully intending to deserve it, he throws open his house to the public and invites a trial.

I have just received a stock of No. 1 French Brandy, for medicinal purposes.

Also a large stock of excellent Wines, for medicinal purposes, together with a lot of the best old Rye Whiskey to be found in the country.

PROF. L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR!!

AN EFFECTIVE, SAFE AND ECONOMICAL COMPOUND.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR to its original color without dyeing, and preventing the hair from turning gray.

FOR PREVENTING BALDNESS, and curing it, when there is the least particle of vitality or recuperative energy remaining.

FOR REMOVING SCURF AND DANDRUFF, and all cutaneous affections at the Scalp.

FOR BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR, imparting to it an unequalled gloss and brilliancy, making it soft and silky in its texture and causing it to curl readily.

The great celebrity and the increasing demand for this unequalled preparation, convince the proprietor that one trial is only necessary to satisfy a discerning public of its superior qualities over any other preparation at present in use. It cleances the head and scalp from dandruff and other cutaneous diseases, causes the hair to grow luxuriently, and gives it a rich, soft, glossy flexible appearance, and also where the hair is loosening and thining, it will give strength and vigor to the roots, and restore the growth to those parts which have become bald, causing it to yield a fresh covering of hair.

There are hundreds of ladies and gentlemen in New York who have had their hair restored by the use of this Invigorator, when all other preparations had failed. L. M. has in his possession letters innumerable testifying to the above facts, from persons of the highest respectability. It will effectually prevent the hair from turning gray until the latest period of life; and in cases where the hair has already changed its color, the use of the Invigorator will with certainty restore it to its original hue, giving it a dark, glossy appearance. As a perfume for the toilet and a Hair Restorative it is particularly recommended, having an agreeable fragrance; and the great facilities it affords in dressing the hair, which, when moist with the Invigorator can be dressed in any required form so as to preserve its place, whether plain or in curls—hence the great demand for it by the ladies as a standard toilet article which none ought to be without, as the price places it within the reach of all, being.

ONLY 25 CENTS

per bottle, to be had at all respectable druggists and perfumers.

L. MILLER would call the attention of Parents and Guardians to the use of the Invigorator, in cases where the childrens' Hair inclines to be weak. The use of it lays the foundation for a good head of hair, as it removes any impurities that may have become connected with the scalp, the removal of which is necessary both for the health of the child, and the future appearance of its Hair.

CAUTION.—None genuine without the fac simile LOUIS MILLER being on the outer wrapper; also, L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR, N. Y. blown in the glass.

MOFFAT'S
LIFE PILLS and PHŒNIX BITTERS.

THESE MEDICINES HAVE NOW been before the public for a period of thirty years, and during that time have maintained a high character in almost every part of the globe, for their extraordinary and immediate power of restoring perfect health to persons suffering under nearly every kind of disease to which the human frame is liable.

The following are among the distressing variety of human diseases in which the

are well known to be infallible.

DYSPEPSIA, by thoroughly cleansing the first and second stomachs, and creating a flow of pure, healthy bile, instead of the stale and acrid kind; FLATULENCY, Loss or Appetite, Heartburn, Headache, Restlessness, Ill Temper, Anxiety, Langour, and Melancholy, which are the general symptoms of Dyspepsia, will vanish, as a natural consequence of its cure.

COSTIVENESS, by cleansing the whole length of the intestines with a solvent process, and without violence; all violent purges leave the bowels costive within two days.

FEVERS of all kinds, by restoring the blood to a regular circulation, through the process of respiration in such cases, and the thorough solution of all intestinal obstruction in others.

The Life Medicines have been known to cure RHEUMATISM permanently in three weeks, and GOUT in half that time, by removing local inflammation from the muscles and ligamentz of the joints.

DROPSIES of all kinds, by freeing and strengthening the kidneys and bladder; they operate most delightfully on these important organs, and hence have ever been found a certain remedy for the worst cases of GRAVEL.

Also WORMS, from the tunnings of the bowels the slimy matter to which these creatures adhere.

SCURVY, ULCERS, and INVETERATE SORES, by the perfect purity which these LIFE MEDICINES give to the blood, and all the humors.

SOORBUTIC ERUPTIONS and BAD COMPLEXIONS, by their alterative effect upon the fluids that feed the skin, and the morbid state of which occasions all eruptive complaints, sallow, cloudy, and other disagreeable complexions.

The use of these Pills for a very short time will effect an entire cure of SALT RHEUM, Kings a striking improvement in the clearness of the skin. COMMON COLDS and INFLUENZA will always be cured by one dose, or by two in the worst cases.

PILES.—The original proprietor of these medicines, was cured of Piles, of 35 years standing, by the use of the Life Medicines alone.

FEVER & AGUE.—For this scourge of the Western country, these medicines will be found a safe, speedy and certain remedy. Other medicines leave the system subject to a return of the disease—by these medicines is permanent—try them; be satisfied, and be cured.

BILLIOUS FEVERS and LIVER COMPLAINTS.—General debility, loss of appetite and diseases of females—the medicines have been used with the most beneficial results in cases of this description. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

The proprietors and manufacturers of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS can appeal with perfect confidence to physicians and citizens generally of the United States, because the article has attained a reputation heretofore unknown. A few facts upon this point will speak more powerfully than volumes of bare assertion or blazoning puffery. The consumption of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for the last year amounted to over a half-million bottles, and from its manifest steady increase in times past, it is evident that during the coming year the consumption will reach near one million bottles. This immense amount could never have been sold but for the rare medicinal properties contained in the preparation, and the sanction of the most prominent physicians in those sections of the country where the article is best known, who not only recommend the Bitters to their patients, but are ready at all times to give testimonials to its efficacy in all cases of stomachic derangements and the diseases resulting therefrom.

This is not a temporary popularity, obtained by extraordinary efforts in the way of trumpeting the qualities of the Bitters, but a solid estimation of an invaluable medicine, which is destined to be as enduring as time itself.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have proved a Godsend to regions where fever and ague and various other bilious complaints have counted their victims by hundreds. To be able to state confidently that the "Bitters" are a certain cure for the Dyspepsia and like diseases, is to the proprietors a source of unalloyed pleasure. It removes all morbid matter from the stomach, purifies the blood, and imparts renewed vitality to the nervous system, giving it that tone and energy indispensable for the restoration of health. It operates upon the stomach, liver, and other digestive organs, mildly but powerfully, and soon restores them to a condition essential to the healthy discharge of the functions of nature.

Elderly persons may use the Bitters daily as per directions on the bottle, and they will find in it a stimulant peculiarly adapted to comfort declining years, as it is pleasant to the palate, invigorating to the bowels, excellent as a tonic, and rejuvenating generally. We have the evidence of thousands of aged men and women who have experienced the benefit of using this preparation while suffering from stomach derangements and general debility; acting under the advice of physicians, they have abandoned all deleterious drugs and fairly tested the merits of this article. A few words to the gentler sex. There are certain periods when their cares are so harassing that many of them sink under the trial. The relation of mother and child is so absorbingly tender, that the mother, especially if she be young, is apt to forget her own health in her extreme anxiety for her infant. Should the period of maternity arrive during the summer season, the wear of body and mind is generally aggravated. Here, then, is a necessity for a stimulant to recuperate the energies of the system, and enable the mother to bear up under her exhausting trials and responsibilities. Nursing mothers generally prefer the Bitters to all other invigorators that receive the endorsement of physicians, because it is agreeable to the taste as well as certain to give a permanent increase of bodily strength.

All those persons, to whom we have particularly referred above, to wit: sufferers from fever and ague, caused by malaria, diarrhœa, dysentery, indigestion, loss of appetite, and all diseases or derangements of the stomach, superannuated invalids, persons of sedentary occupation, and nursing mothers, will consult their own physical welfare by giving to Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters a trial.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

☞ Prepared and sold by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa., and sold by all druggists, grocers, and dealers generally throughout the United States, South America, and Germany.

RESTORATIVE
PILLS OF IRON.

A convenient and stomachic preparation of Iron purified by Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case.

In Debility, Nervous Affections, Emaciation, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Incipient Consumption, Scrofulous Tuberculosis, Salt Rheum, Mismenstruation, Whites, Chlorosis, Liver Complaints, Chronic Headache, Rheumatism, Intermittent Fevers, Pimples on the Face, &c.

In cases of General Debility, whether the result of acute disease, or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible.—Invalids no long bed ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly re-appeared in the busy world as if just returned from a protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested by Female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and the complication of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise, for which the physician has no name.

In Nervous Affections of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and overheating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency which forms them.

In Dyspepsia, innumerable as are its causes, a single bottle of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most inbitual cases, including the attendant Costiveness.

In unchecked Diarrhœa, even when advanced to Dysentery, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remittent hectic, which generally indicate Incipient Consumption, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

In Scrofulous Tuberculosis, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of Iodine, without any of their well-known liabilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly afflicting them.

In Rheumatism, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating the pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In intermittent Fevers it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has been discovered in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in flat metal boxes containing 50 pills, price 50 cents per box; for sale by druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of the price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

Thousands are daily speaking in the praise of DR. EATON'S

INFANTILE CORDIAL,

and why? because it never fails to afford instantaneous relief when given in time. It acts as if by magic, and one trial alone will convince you that what we say is true. It contains

NO PAREGORIC OR OPIATE

of any kind, and therefore relieves by removing the sufferings of your child, instead of by deadening its sensibilities. For this reason, it commends itself as the only reliable preparation now known for CHILDREN TEETHING, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, GRIPING IN THE BOWELS, ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, WIND, COLD IN THE HEAD, and CROUP, also, for softening the gums, reducing inflammation, regulating the Bowels, and relieving pain, it has no equal—being an anti-spasmodic it is used with unfailing success in all cases of CONVULSION OR OTHER FITS. As you value the life and health of your children, and wish to save them from those sad and blighting consequences which are certain to result from the use of narcotics of which all other remedies for Infantile Complaints are composed, take none but DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, this you can rely upon. It is perfectly harmless, and cannot injure the most delicate infant. Price, 25 cents. Full directions accompany each bottle. Prepared only by

BLOOD FOOD

Healthy human Blood upon being always presents us with the same essential elements, and gives of course the TRUE STANDARD. Analyze the Blood of a person suffering from Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Scrofula, &c., and we find in every instance certain deficiencies in the red globules of Blood. Supply these deficiencies, and you are made well. The BLOOD FOOD is is founded upon this Theory—hence its astonishing success. There are

ANALYZED

FIVE PREPARATIONS

adopted to the deficiencies of the Blood in different diseases. For COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS, or any affection whatever of the THROAT or LUNGS, including CONSUMPTION, use No. 1, which is also the No. for DEPRESSION OF SPIRITS, LOSS OF APPETITE, and for all CHRONIC COMPLAINTS, arising from OVER-USE, GENERAL DEBIL
